

COVID-19 – Available PERC Resources For Marketers

Information on PERC Website

The Propane Education & Research Council (PERC) launched a new page on its website to assist propane marketers throughout this unprecedented health emergency. It will serve as the central repository for safety alerts, health advisory updates, links to important world and national regulatory guidelines, and resources to help your businesses maintain the vital service that so many people are relying on.

Information includes issues like:

- Information that propane marketers need to know
- Operational considerations
- Company-customer interaction information
- Gas odor and leak check call procedures
- Customer communications